The Half-Built House

A. 1 The grandmother said this.

2. In the half-built house, Disha and Atharva had discovered criminals who were wanted by the police.

3. Going to the half-built house alone was dangerous. Disha and Atharva could have been caught by the men.

C. 1. Grandma's farm was an exciting place because the children had many things to do outdoors, such as climbing trees, swimming, flying kites, playing football, and having varied adventures.

2. Atharva was the leader of the group because he was the oldest. He showed his leadership by going to the half-built house first to see if it was safe for children to play there.

3. The youngest child, Dev, felt that he could look after himself.

4. The two older children took a long time at the house because they saw three criminals there. They had to hide behind two empty drums and could come out only when they felt safe.

5. The children had seen the men's pictures in Inspector Chitnis' office.

6. The two sensible things that the children did were to hide on seeing the criminals and tell their father about the criminals.

7. Inspector Chitnis had driven down to Grandma's farm to look for the three crooks.

8. The children were allowed to accompany the policemen only if they obeyed instructions.
