D. Short answer questions.

1. What is the difference between economic and non-economic activities?

Economic activities are performed to earn money or create value in the economy, whereas non-economic activities are done out of love, care, or social responsibility without financial gain.

2. Why is Langar considered a non-economic activity?

Langar is considered a non-economic activity because it is a selfless act of serving free meals to all, regardless of caste, creed, or background, without any expectation of monetary reward.

3. Give two examples of economic activities.

Economic Activities are

1. A farmer selling vegetables in the market.

2. A doctor treating patients in a hospital.

4. What is the main objective of non-economic activities

The main objective of non-economic activities is to promote social welfare, build relationships and contribute to the well-being of individuals and the community.

5. How does the Clean India Mission benefit society?

The Clean India Mission promotes cleanliness, hygiene and better waste management, leading to a healthier and more sustainable environment for all.

E. Long answer questions.

1. Write a short note on community service.

Community service refers to voluntary efforts made to help others and improve society. It includes activities like mentoring learners, organizing blood donation camps and participating in cleanliness drives. It builds empathy, strengthens communities and promotes a sense of unity and responsibility among people.

2. Why are non-economic activities important for society? Give examples.

Non-economic activities are important because they foster social harmony, emotional well-being and community development. They create a sense of care, belonging and mutual support. For example, a mother cooking for her family shows love and care, while volunteers cleaning a public park help maintain a clean environment.

3. Describe how both economic and non-economic activities contribute to the overall well-being of a family.

Economic activities provide financial stability, fulfilling a family's basic needs like food, shelter and education. For example, a father working as a carpenter earns money to support his family. On the other hand, non-economic activities, such as a mother caring for her children or grandparents telling stories, create emotional bonds and ensure happiness in the family. Both types of activities are essential for a balanced and fulfilling life.
